"Ye That Have Tears to shed"

The Origis of Wheat.

Wheat ranks by origin as a degenerate and degraded lily. The pedigree of wheat is traced from the time when its ancestors first diverged from the common stocks of the illies and the water plantations to the time when savage man found it growing wild upon the untilled plains of prehistoric Asia, and took it under his special protection in the little garden-plats around his wattled but, whence it was gradually altered under his constant selection into the golden grain that now covers half the low-land tith of Europe and America. There is no page in botanical history more full of genuine romance than this; and there is no page in which evidence is clearer or more convincing for those who will take the easy trouble to read it aright. Ab!—What have we here? Let us see. A correspondent of the esteemed Register, writing from Buckhannon, forwards the following, which we do not hesitate to say

"What do you think of the political situa-tion in our State? This time the query was applied to an 'Old Guard' Democrat, one of tensus' latelligence and who is an observer

"What would you regard as the right thing to do?"

"Not to attempt to anologize for the wrong doings of Democratic officials. It is now conceded that re-assessment and, the botch of equalization has done us a great deal of harm. The failure on the part of the Legislature to perform a plain constitutional requirement in making appropriations to meet the casual deficits in the revenue, is one of the hard features to explain. The autocracy of some of our officials is not palpsale [palanble?] to many old-fashioned Democrats who believe that public officers should be the servants and not the masters of the people. So upon the whole the proper thing for the party to do is to construct a State ticket for the next canvass composed of new men—men who have no connection with any of the anopopair features of past or present administrations, and men who are not identified with any of the factions in our party. A clear headed business man, who is ident fied with the developments of the State and who understands and is in sympathy with the farming interests, is the kind of man to lead the ticket."

Republicans have been saying that the situation from a Democratic point of view is critical-more critical than Democrats would like to see it; but the Democratic press has declared that it wasn't so, and the Democratic managers have said it would blow over. Everybody in authority on that side of the house has been apologizing "for the wrong doings of Democratic officials"; very few have been willing to admit in public that "re-assessment and the botch of equalization" have done the party any harm or given taxpayers anything to Republicans have declared, and cited the Constitution in support of the declaration, that the Democratic Legislature had treated with contempt plain constitutional re quirements in the matter of the State debt Republicans have agreed that these would be "hard features to explain," but the Democratic press assured us that when the taxpayers got a little used to this way of doing things they would rather like it than otherwise. Well, here is a Democrat and an "Old Guard" at that, who doesn't like it for himself and thinks it will be "hard to esplain." And then there are the "old fashioned Democrats," who don't like the Boss methods of politics and don't want to be bossed. It seems that there is an autocracy-a very bad thing in its way-and that also does not fill the party with in-

Cholera Medic Observe the remedy! The party must put up other men who can make fair promises and—fool the people again. Policy is to be inferentially repudiated by repudisting men who have adhered to the party policy. This is base ingratitude-but the people needn't bother about that. It is a game that has been played before, but the people are getting their eyes open and there is an "andible murmur" that sound like the approaching hurricane.

It is overwhelmingly sad, this condition of the Democratic party in West Virginiaa critical situation, hard things to explain servants become masters, factions, wrong doings of Democratic officials-it is "a tim for memory and for tears." The campaign is progressing. Shall we "turn the rascal

No doubt ere long "peanut flour" will be on important product of the South. The crop of the country has averaged $3,000,000. Virginia has set down this year for 2,100,000 bushels, Tennessee for 250,000, and North Carolina at 135,000 bushels, these being the chief States engaged in their cultivation, and those in which it was first introduced from Africa. In Virginia they are called "peanuts" in North Carolina, "groundbeas, Alabama and Mississippi, "pinders" Virginias are beginning to turn the peanut into flour, and say it makes a pecularly palatable "biscuit." In Georgia there is a custom, now growing old, of grinding or pounding the shelled peanuts and turning them into pastry, which has some resemblance, both in looks and taste, to thet made of cocca-
